

SCWF Wildlife Boxes

These boxes were built by students at Heyward Technology & Career Center in Richland School District 1. The metal plates were fabricated by our WAIT partner, Hartness International in Greenville.

American Kestrels and Screech Owls Boxes - $50.00*

Install nest boxes by February. Place at least 8-10 feet off the ground. Face it south to southeast to gain exposure to at least 6 hours of direct sunlight. Don't be discouraged if birds don't begin nesting in them immediately; sometimes it takes a year or more for the birds to discover them.

Bat Roosting Boxes - $40.00*

These roosting boxes were constructed from plans supplied by the Organization for Bat Conservation. They offer these recommendations for placement in the Southeast states: attach at least 15 feet high, free from obstructions with at least 20 feet of open space and facing east to southeast to gain exposure to sunlight.

Eastern Bluebird Nesting Boxes - $25.00*

Eastern Bluebirds begin looking for nesting sites in South Carolina in early February. Boxes should be mounted facing the morning sun on a metal pole equipped with a predator guard so that the entrance hole is at a height of 5 feet.

Brown-headed Nuthatch-$25.00*

Place nest box in open pine forest, in pine woods mixed with deciduous trees or in open areas adjacent to pine woods. Their diet consists mainly of insects and pine seeds. Place box on a pole or a post equipped with a predator guard at least 5 – 10 ft. above ground. Nuthatches will nest in the shade.

Wood Duck Nesting Boxes - $60.00*

Nest boxes can be mounted on steel poles or treated wood 4 x 4 posts near standing, flooded, dead trees beside or above the water. Place boxes so the bottom of the box is at least 4 feet above the high water mark with the entrance hole facing the water and at a height that will allow access for monitoring and maintenance.

Restrictor plates can be purchased separately and attached with nails to your own nesting boxes—$10 each or 3 for $25.

orders of 5 or more boxes will be given a 15% discount on total order.*
